

SENATOR DeCAMP: Mr. President, it occurs to me that I think everybody in here is concerned about safety in the public schools and I think that is one of the reasons you have seen some of the Christian schools and private schools spring up and get more attention. It also occurs to me though that there are some accidental, maybe, errors in the bill. Now I raised the question about the public indecency and I think there is nothing worse than a lazy bill drafter or a lazy lawyer and what they did and I doubt that it was a member of the body, I doubt that it was a member of the body had read what they were referencing back to because the language is "public indecency as defined in Section 28-806" so we just assumed 28-806 was all okay. 28-806, I know I am talking a little bit on a different subject but it will get to my point, 28-806, six not...are the statutes that apply and recite that they apply specifically to adults on sexual conduct. All those little kids in here, you are now making all the five year olds which was specifically not intended in the criminal code, you are now making that the standard so you can kick them out of school and I don't think the Education Committee intended that. What I am suggesting, you still have got about ten, fifteen minutes, maybe, you could pass over this bill, "Goody" could get together with some of the people, see if you couldn't work out some of these things. I think they can be worked out and I think you do need to correct it, and you could finish reading four, five of these other bills. And so I would ask unanimous consent to pass over it at this time.

PRESIDENT: Is there objection? If not, the bill will be passed over at this time. The Chair would recognize Senator Kahle on a point of personal privilege.

SENATOR KAHLE: Mr. President, members of the body, we just got through talking about the problem with young people, children in school, and I want to take this opportunity this morning to give a tribute to the young people that work for us here in the legislative body, the Pages, and also to Kitty Kearns who guides and directs them but this morning I have a special privilege. I would like to have Kathy Adkins come over here at the Pages area so that you can all see her and I am sure you recognize Kathy as being a Page that we had here last year and did her work well and she had an interesting experience and an honor I think that we should pay to her this morning and recognize. Kathy was tapped for both the Mortar Board and the Innocents Society which I think is really an honor to her and her family and also to the training that she has had, perhaps some of it right here. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Adkins of Minden, Nebraska, friends that I have known
